

About

I write because I have to: it's nearly as important as eating and breathing. I'll try to post work here once a week for you to read / hear / enjoy / hate.

I ask only one thing of you: share my site and stories with others. Every chapter has tools at the top allowing you to easily:

- email the chapter
- print it nicely
- create a PDF file
- share on FaceBook

Please, use these tools to share my work with the people you know.

Most stories will be narrated and include an MP3 file for podcasting. You can:

- subscribe to the podcast in iTunes or other podcast software
- listen to the story here on the website
- download the MP3 to listen later

Be sure to subscribe to the email subscription list so you know each time I post a new piece of work. This list will never be used to spam. I want to build a relationship with you as your storyteller of choice.